ADC field dogs make it a bad day for suspect

Robbery suspect Michael Freeman is taken into custody after a six hour manhunt with the assistance of the ADC field dogs.

Sometimes life has a way of catching up to those who commit really dumb crimes. Such as this suspect. He was out on bond, hearing pending, when he allegedly decided to break into a house only a few hundred feet from an ADC facility and Arkansas State Police headquarters.

Michael Freeman managed to elude local, county, and state law officials for nearly six hours before being apprehended across the street from ADC’s Central Office and the headquarters of the State Police. Assisting the officers were tracking dogs of the ADC. By staying hot on the trail, the dogs made it a bad day for Freeman. Check out the story on the Manhunt Field Trials inside.
Director’s Corner

Ray Hobbs
ADC Director

Nothing in life is certain. In fact, we live surrounded by uncertainty. The recent 9.0 magnitude earthquake in Japan and smaller quakes in the Greenbrier area closer to home, remind us there are catastrophic risks and potential dangers in our lives – things beyond our control. These risks may occur rarely, but when they happen they have truly major consequences.

Here at the ADC, we have our own set of risks and attempt to prepare for catastrophes. As a matter of policy, we maintain emergency preparedness plans that conform to National Incident Management System standards. We must be prepared for all types of emergencies: natural disasters; man-made disasters and circumstances created by inmates.

It’s like having insurance. We have all sorts of policies in place to protect our vehicles, homes and bodies in case there’s an accident or injury. It only makes sense that the same logic is applied here at ADC.

Being prepared can reduce fear, anxiety and losses that come with disasters. The Federal Emergency Management Agency tells us that the need to prepare is real. “Disasters disrupt hundreds of thousands of lives every year. Each disaster has lasting effects, both to people and property,” FEMA reports on its website. “If a disaster occurs in your community, local government and disaster-relief organizations will try to help you, but you need to be ready as well. Local responders may not be able to reach you immediately, or they may need to focus their efforts elsewhere.”

FEMA recommends that we all be ready to be self-sufficient for at least three days, which means providing for our own shelter, first aid, food, water and sanitation. Are you ready? Do you have a plan in place at home? It’s something to think about, especially since an earthquake along the New Madrid fault could impact many of us and severe weather season is approaching.

The goals of the ADC’s emergency preparedness plan include resolving violent or potentially violent emergencies without force when possible and with minimal force when force is necessary; isolating and containing emergency situations as quickly as possible; establishing control and restoring order as quickly as possible; preventing escapes during emergency operations; maintaining the safety of employees, visitors and inmates and minimizing the impact of the emergency on the facility.

We accomplish these goals by maintaining and distributing emergency preparedness manuals at our facilities, regularly reviewing those materials and participating in training exercises. It’s akin to the fire and tornado drills we all had back in our school days. Most of us probably didn’t have to rely on what we learned during those drills, but we knew where to go and what to do just in case.

ADC’s version of those drills is emergency preparedness training. Depending on rank and job assignment, initial and annual training requirements vary, but it is required for all staff, volunteers and contractors who work in the prison system.

The key word to this message is preparedness. Shared responsibilities and active participation are needed to make any plan a success.

Amid swirling controversy and severe budget cuts, this year’s annual April Fool’s Day Parade was forced to cancel, AFD Chairperson Jack Azz said. Many citizens were outraged and easily confused. “I was shocked,” stated a tearful Mr. Azz. “Folks in Iran have been celebrating since 536 BC (as far as I know) with a day of pranks to celebrate the 13th day of the Persian New Year. Other countries started around 1582, when the current calendar changed New Year’s from the week of March 25th to January 1st.”

“The confused masses who stubbornly celebrated New Year’s around April 1 were called “fools” and were the brunt of many ridiculous pranks.” Jack Azz added, “In France, an ‘April Fish’ would be hooked onto someone’s back, which evolved into the modern-day ‘Kick Me’ sign.” Moronic crowds, lined-up along Main Street, were still waiting for a parade that wouldn’t be coming. “I just don’t have the heart to tell those idiots,” added Jack. “No sense makin’ an ass outta myself.”

On March 6, participants lined up on the starting line for the Little Rock Marathon. Among the hundreds of participants were the “Eagles Wings,” a four-person relay team from the ADC.

Representing Central Office were Director Ray Hobbs and his wife, Sarah, Deputy Director Wendy Kelley and Ayn Freygang from Medical Services. This was the first Little Rock Marathon for the group, but all are seasoned runners. “It was very cold, but we were there simply for the fun of it,” said Freygang.

The race began at 8 a.m., sending runners and walkers over a 26-mile course through the streets of Little Rock. The ADC team exchanged ankle bracelets in place of a baton. While some ran for time positions, the “Eagles Wings” did it for the spirit of camaraderie. “We may not have finished first, but we gave it our best,” added Freygang.

The group hopes to inspire others to get up and get involved. “Be a part of a team, or just do it for your own health.”
Runnin’ with the big dogs at the Southern States Manhunt Field Trials

They search day or night, in all types of weather to locate escaped felons or lost children. They look tirelessly for the elderly who can’t remember their way. They risk their lives to find survivors or victims of accidents and catastrophes. And all for the love of their masters. These are the field dogs who work hard-and love to play hard!

The 12th Annual Southern States Manhunt Trials met at North Little Rock’s Camp Robinson the week of March 7-11, bringing together champion K-9 teams from across three states. While no one could predict the wet and chilly weather, one could see the camaraderie between the handlers and their four-footed partners during a week of day and night tracking, drug searches, and firing range competition.

Hampered by heavy rains, the Tuesday night run started with 7 teams, but only two teams, (Tucker unit and Central Office) kept the trail and went on to finish with good marks. The Wednesday competition made for great catch times in spite of high winds and chilly temperatures. Marksmen took aim during the firing range challenge led by the Louisiana team from Angola. Thursday’s early run was fast and spirited as all teams kept close marks. That afternoon, the drug dogs took center stage as they searched various barracks’ for contraband.

As the week drew to a close, the weary teams gathered together for a fish fry sponsored by ADC Director Ray Hobbs. This year, top honors and trophies went to:

Multi Division — Escambia County Road Prison, 1st; East Arkansas Regional Unit, 2nd; Ouachita River Correctional Unit, 3rd; Tucker Unit, 4th. Single Division — East Arkansas Regional Unit, 1st; Tucker Unit, 2nd; Ouachita River Unit, 3rd; Rayburn, L.a., DOC, 4th. Pack — Tucker Unit, 1st; Cummins Unit, 2nd; East Arkansas Regional Unit, 3rd; Ouachita River Correctional Unit, 4th. NOC — Stephen Poe & Rex, 1st; Derrick Wilson & Candy, 2nd; James Mize & Jack, 3rd; Dennis Reap & Dexter, 4th. Pistol Range — Louisiana State Penitentiary, Angola, 1st; Haynesville, La., PD, 2nd; Cummins Unit, 3rd. Congratulations to everyone. See you next year!
Spring cleaning – Sprucing up the place and yourself for better health

Let’s talk about me…
Let’s face it, there are a multitude of things and activities out there to re-energize your life and inner spirit, whether it be a hobby or exercise. The idea is to just get up and do it! Consider these for starters…

This year I’m going to …
Pick up a new hobby, read a new book, write my own book, take a nice vacation, fall in love again or get into an exercise routine. Exercise is always a good way to improve that figure while boosting the ol’ self esteem. Before starting any type of physical routine, check with your doctor and let them know what you have in mind-then go for it!

This year my grandma got out the buckets, mops, brooms, dust cloths and announced that it was time for “spring cleaning.” I also remember everyone finding excuses to run off and hide or do other things instead.

As it turns out, Grandma had the right idea after all. By starting off fresh and new at spring time, the rest of the year seemed much better.

So why not try some “spring cleaning of a different kind? The kind that makes everything seem fresh and new both inside and out. Every plan ought to have a list, so choose one of these.

Clean up around the place, etc.

Ok folks, it’s time to get your world in order. Let’s start at home. Look through medicine cabinets and get rid of all those old, expired medications and also renew any prescriptions you may need with the doctor. Take a look around and change the batteries in your smoke alarms, as well as the batteries in TV remotes, wall clocks and flashlights. If it ain’t bright, it ain’t right….right?

Look under your cabinets. You may find a few old bottles of chemicals that you haven’t used or don’t need, so dispose of them properly. Same rules apply out in the garage; remove and dispose of old paint or fuel containers and cut down the clutter, while making way for safety.

Look through your closets and pull out any articles of clothing that you no longer wear. If you know that it doesn’t fit or you haven’t worn it in over a year or more, then it’s time to go. You can bundle everything and donate it to a local charity or get together with your neighbors and hold a yard sale!

Get to know thy neighbors …
One can never have too many friends, or good neighbors. To have good neighbors, you need to be one yourself. Get to know who lives next door so that you can watch out for each other. Join together in a neighborhood clean-up or crime-watch group. Get involved with a local church or school, work with the elderly, or school children. Don’t just wish for a better community, go out and help to make it happen. And now that you’ve spent all that quality time with others, it’s time to think about you for a change! There are ways to tweak and tune-up the things that make your life fun and fulfilling at the same time! So get up and get started!

1. Do a variety of activities that you enjoy; who says you need a gym or expensive equipment?
2. Commit to another person; an exercise partner makes it better.
3. Prioritize being active; make this routine an important part of your daily life and stick to it.
4. Exercise first thing in the morning. Get fit, grab a shower, then get on with your day.
5. Not a morning person? Then go exercise after work before getting home and kicking back.
6. Exercise even when you think you’re “too tired”. The extra oxygen and physical activity offer your body a nice euphoria.
7. Log your progress. Keep note of the reduced waistline and higher endurance levels.
8. Combine your fitness routines with other activities such as shopping or exploring.
From the Hill: Arkansas legislative session busy with reforms and new bills

It’s been a busy year so far at the state capitol in Little Rock. The 88th General Assembly convened the second week of January to take up legislation on matters concerning the state budget, taxes, and reforms while also considering new bills and proposals. The House and Senate have voted on several issues concerning prison reform for sentencing and early parole, as well as state employee retirement.

Some of the measures include Act 180 which states that if an inmate’s release date falls within a holiday or weekend, they may be released the last business day before that date. Act 181 allows an employee with at least 20 years of service to keep his service weapon upon retirement, as a means of recognition and appreciation.

Act 182 will allow the ADC a program to provide issuance of surplus items produced by the farm operation to department employees. For inmates in work release, pre-release or rehab programs, Act 183 allows these inmates to be housed at the Arkansas Health Center under established numbers from the Board of Correction. And Act 184 states the ADC may cooperate and contract with the federal government, government agencies and political subdivisions of Arkansas and other states as well as private contractors to improve operations.

Chocolate Cobbler
Brenda Wilson

INGREDIENTS
1 1/4 cups granulated sugar, divided into 3/4 & 1/2 cups
7 Tbls cocoa, divided into 3 Tbls & 4 Tbls
1 cup all purpose flour
2 tsp baking powder
1/4 tsp salt
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 tsp vanilla extract

Optional — 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels

Pre-heat oven to 350

Stir together 3/4 cup sugar, flour, 3 Tbls cocoa, baking powder, and salt. Stir in milk, butter, and vanilla, mixing until smooth. Pour into ungreased 8 inch square glass baking dish.

In a small bowl, mix 1/2 cup sugar, brown sugar, and 4 Tbls cocoa. Sprinkle evenly over batter. Pour hot water over the top, but do not stir. (This is where I add the optional semi-sweet morsels. Sprinkle across top.)

Bake for 35-40 minutes, or until center is almost set. Let stand for 15 minutes, then serve. Use the chocolate sauce in bottom of pan to spoon over servings. Garnish, if desired, with ice cream or whipped cream.

Big House Burger Joint serves up tasty eats and second chances

Getting out of trouble isn’t as easy as getting into it. When ex-inmates try to re-enter society, the transition can be difficult. Second Chance Enterprises, a Christian-based organization, decided to provide an opportunity for these men and women to get back to work and improve their lives.

The Big House Burger Joint in Conway, located in the Livestock Sale Barn on Dave Ward Road, is a unique restaurant. Its décor features jail-based posters from “Cool Hand Luke” and “Bonnie & Clyde” and mug shots of Frank Sinatra and notable Alcatraz residents. Menu items named the “K-9,” a grilled hot dog, and the “Jailbird,” a smoked chicken sandwich, remind customers of the restaurant staff — all ex-offenders who got a break.

When Second Chance opened the place back in September 2010, they never expected the positive responses from the community. They’ve been mentioned on the “Corey and Jay Show” on 100.3 the Edge, the subject of an interview on K-love, and featured on Conway’s public access television. Word is getting out about the place, and the biggest word in this venture is faith.

“We work closely with Fellowship Bible Church here in Conway,” said Manager Mike Wilbanks. “We attend services and give back to this and other area churches and organizations. We periodically do a ‘Jam the Jar’ donation where all tips collected that period are donated to local charities.” With the recent purchase of a catering truck, the guys plan to start catering and providing lunch services for local industries and making appearances at area festivals.

When the staff was asked about working with Second Chance and Big House Burger Joint, the answers were surprising and positive. Heidi appreciates the family atmosphere and the chance to pick up new skills. Mikala is grateful for the opportunity to kick old habits and concentrate on her family. Cowles enjoys honing his cooking skills and appreciates the positive response from customers.

As for the food, well, this reporter was impressed! I tried the “Juvie”— a 1/4-pound hamburger with pepper jack cheese, jalapenos, bacon, lettuce and tomato with a side order of “Sing-Sing Rings.” The burger was juicy and flavorful with a dry rub worked into the beef. The toppings were crisp and fresh and the rings were hot and crunchy. I sampled four sauces on the onion rings and declared hickory to be my favorite. The portions were generous and easy on the wallet — $6.85 and worth every penny. Hours are 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday-Friday and 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. Check out the online menu and gift shop at www.bighouseburgerjoint.com or just drop on by for some good eats.
